9. Answer to the Queries

a. UPS Specification

Concerns were raised regarding the specification pertaining to Uninterruptible Power Supply (UPS). The specification under Battery Type indicates:

|--|
| Battery Type: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Sealed lead-acid, maintenance-free, leak-proof |
|--|

Upon further research of the End-User, the above specification does not pertain and/or isolate to only one brand of UPS. To further clarify, the BAC will not be looking for a “leak proof” description or any similar declaration on the UPS specification, however upon inspection of the units, it is expected that all batteries do not have leakage and will never leak during its typical and expected lifetime. Thus, absence of an explicit “leak proof” description on your proposed item shall not be a ground for disqualification.

b. High-end Laptop Computer Specifications

Clarification on the specification pertaining to High-end Laptop, under I/O Ports which indicates:

I/O Ports:

- Video display interface, HDMI port
- Three USB Ports with USB 3.0
- 1 x Mic-in
- 1 x Headphone Audio Jack
- On board Gigabit Ethernet

The first bullet, Video display interface, HDMI port. To clarify, the High-end Laptop Computer should have at least an HDMI port and another video display port of any type, which means there will be two ports for external display.

In view of the requirements of the End-user, it is decided that the original specifications of the UPS and High-end Laptop Computer be retained.

This Supplemental Bulletin No.1 shall form part of the Bidding Documents.

For the guidance and information of all concerned.
